

Going out

- Go outside (this can be in your garden, outside your front door or somewhere different for some exercise) at different times of the day or in different weather conditions. What similarities or differences can you find in terms of what you see, smell or hear depending on the time of day and weather conditions? Can you notice something 'fantastic' everyday?
- Can you challenge yourself to find five different routes to your house? You can use your local knowledge, Googlemaps or digimap. Each route should be planned to pass through different landmarks.
- Can you walk a different route each day with a member of your family? Which is your favourite route and why?
- Design Time! Can you design an interesting piece of street furniture that can fit somewhere in your local area? Some examples are, benches, streetlights, traffic lights, fountains.

What if...

You could protect one place in your local area for ever? Where would it be? What would you protect and why? How would you protect it?

Design Time! Design a sign to hold up that gives everyone the message that this space should exist for eternity. You could dress up as a superhero and take a picture of yourself holding your sign up at that place!

Another fun activity to try!

Keep a journal for 3 weeks. Can you write about the changes you have noticed outside every week? Has the weather changed? Are there more or less people outside?
